THE FAT GIRL'S DEATH

Further Particulars of the Demise of Blanche Gray.

A Grief-Stricken Husband—One of the Most Remarkable Monstrosities Ever on Exhibition—Cause and Incidents of Her Death—Her History, Size and Disposition.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28.—The fat girl, Mrs. Moses or Blanche Davis, who died here the latter part of last week, was complaining of being ill for several days, but she continued to fill her engagement at the Dime Museum until Tuesday last, since which time she has been confined to her room with a bronchial affection. Her husband, young David Moses, says that his wife was quite restless during the latter part of her last night, keeping him awake attending to her wants. "About 8 o'clock in the morning," said young Moses, "my wife turned over on one side, and as she appeared somewhat easier, I lay down by her, feeling worn out myself. I kissed her and dozed off. At 9 o'clock I was aroused by some one knocking at the door of our room. I immediately arose, and the first thing that attracted my attention was that Blanche was not breathing so heavily as was usually the case with her. I ran to the window, raised the curtain to admit the light and found that Blanche was dead."

At this point young Moses was overcome by emotion, and it was some time before he could conclude by saying that he opened the door to let Mr. Hickman into the room. Young Moses says he has no friends in New York to whom he could telegraph the news, but he had dispatched to one of her three brothers, John Gray, who lives in Detroit, Mich. The undertaker says the coffin required is the largest that he has ever been called on to furnish. The dimensions are: Length, 6 feet 4 inches; depth, 3 feet 2 inches; width, 3 feet. The great length of the burial case is due to the fact that one just sufficiently long will not permit the necessary number of pall bearers to bear the heavy burden. The fat girl was born in Detroit in November, 1859, and was consequently at the time of her death, only seventeen years of age. Her weight at birth was twenty-five pounds, and her mother's death occurred a few days after the event. Her remarkable growth was noticeable in her early childhood, and when only twelve years of age she weighed 250 pounds and was fifty-six inches in height. She never increased in stature since that time, but expanded to enormous proportions. She was first exhibited publicly at the Bowery Concert Hall in New York, where she was recently married at the age of sixteen, though she was put down on the bills as being only thirteen years of age. The manager of the Bowery Hall also exhibited her at Coney Island, and the great throngs of people that visit the resort at that popular place took a lively interest in the monstrosity. The widespread publicity given to the marriage made her quite a celebrity, and she was engaged by a New York showman to make a tour of the various cities, Mr. Herzog being the first to secure the prize. This is the third and was to have been the last week of her engagement at the Dime Museum, and Mrs. Moses was to have appeared in Philadelphia on Monday next. The manager who had engaged her knowing with what great difficulty she ascended even to the second floor of the museum here, and having to exhibit her in Philadelphia on the fourth floor, had erected a derrick on the outside of the building with which she was to have been hoisted up and down each day. When first exhibited in New York, though enormously fat, she was very active and as playful as a child of five years, it being found very difficult to prevent her from jumping down from the platform. But recently it was with the greatest difficulty she could get on it. During the past month she gained sixty-seven pounds. She measured 81 inches around the bust and 25 around the upper part of the arm.

Statue in His Honor.

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 28.—The harvest of Rev. H. A. Westfall, pastor of the Erie Universalist Church, has been investigated by a committee of Philadelphia divines, the Rev. Messrs. Sweetzer and Moore, and has resulted in the minister resigning from the Universalist ministry upon the ground that he cannot accept its bible as absolute authority on questions of faith. The investigating committee urged the trustees of Erie Church to sever their connection with Mr. Westfall, but they refused to do so and have appointed him for another year, declaring his preaching to be acceptable. For this act of contumacy the church is liable to "excommunication." The trustees have been notified, but they are firm, and Mr. Westfall continues to preach to large crowds.

Dramatic Copyright Suit.

New York, Oct. 28.—Augustin Daly, theatrical manager of New York, has begun suit for $1,400 damages against S. & D. Armitage, proprietors of the National Theater, of Chicago. This suit is the first under the new copyright laws and seeks damages on account of the unauthorized rendition of two of Daly's dramas, "Divorce" and "Under the Gaslight" during last month.

Reduction of Wages.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 28.—The wire drawers, employed in the Gaultier department are to be reduced ten per cent. in wage from November first, and apprentices five per cent. The reasons assigned by the management are dull trade and large stock on hand. The cut will be submitted to by the workmen.

The Elevated Railway Cases.

New York, Oct. 28.—In the case of Taylor against the Elevated Railroad Company, in which plaintiff last Monday obtained a verdict for $30,000 as the result of the second trial of the case, Judge Sedgwick has granted a stay of proceedings pending an appeal to be taken.

TONS OF TREASURE.

How the Precious Metal Is Rapidly Accumulating.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 28.—The cash in the Treasury continues to pile up beyond all expectation, for the two-fold reason that the receipts have not fallen off to the extent anticipated, and the Pension Office seems to be in a state of blockade, owing to the failure, it is alleged, of claimants for arrears to send in additional evidence called for in their respective cases. Commissioner Dudley has not called for anything this month, nor will he do so, and although he thought a month ago he would need not less than $15,000,000 to $16,000,000 in November, it is believed at the Treasury Department now that he will not use more than this sum for the balance of the calendar year, including the quarterly payment of $9,000,000 on the regular roll, which falls due December 4. Should this estimate prove correct only $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 more for the year will be paid on accounts of arrears for the next two months. Although two calls for $15,000,000 each fall due December 1 and December 15, respectively, it is believed at the department that at least another for the same amount will have to be made during the present calendar year, payable early in January, to decrease the cash piling up. The available cash now has reached the enormous sum of over $165,000,000, when $30,000,000 less than this is considered ample for a safe reserve, and it has frequently been run down to still $10,000,000 lower without causing apprehension. Another call may be looked for with considerable certainty within three or four weeks.

DRAMATIC TRAGEDY.

A Young Son Avenge His Murdered Father.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 28.—A terrible tragedy has just taken place here, the deed of a young man avenging the murder of his father, a policeman, who was killed in the discharge of his duty. On the 22nd of last April, Policemen John Coffey arrested a burly negro, named Alfred Gossett, for larceny, and while conveying him to the police station, Gossett drew a pistol and shot Coffey dead. Gossett was tried last week and convicted of murder in a less degree than that entailing capital punishment, there being some negroes on the jury who would not agree to an unqualified verdict. A motion for a new trial was made, and while the police were conveying Gossett to the Court room, Coffey's son shot and instantly killed his father's murderer. Young Coffey is about twenty years old. His father was an excellent officer, and when murdered public sympathy was deeply aroused on his behalf. The City Item got up a subscription amounting to over $2,000 for the benefit of his family.

RED RENEGADES.

No Truth in the Rumored Battle with Mexican Troops.

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 28.—The rumors of an Indian fight near Casa Grande, which have been circulating in this neighborhood for the past few days, appear to have not the slightest particle of foundation in fact. Colonel Fletcher, commanding at Fort Bliss, A. T., stated to your correspondent that he had received no information, and was sure that General Mackenzie had not. Lieutenant Dust, aid-de-camp on General Mackenzie's staff, passed through here to San Antonio, and stated that no such news had been received at district headquarters at Santa Fe. Colonel Uda, commanding the Mexican troops at Paso del Norte, was also seen late at night, and stated that there was no such news at his headquarters, although he had telegraphed to General Rogers, commanding the District of Chihuahua, for information. Railroad officials of the Mexican Central also deny the truth of the reported encounter between the Mexican troops and the Indians.

AS TO ACCIDENTS.

Some Useful Hints on How to Avoid Them.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 28.—The Railroad Commissioners have submitted their report on the collision on the West Shore road in October. The report holds that the company was at fault in having the operator and agent 300 feet apart, while the engineer was largely to blame. The following recommendations are made to railroads:

1. That some other signal than a danger flag be used at flag-stations to indicate "passengers."
2. That railroads revise their rules with the facts of this accident before them.
3. That division superintendents and dispatchers only be permitted to move regular trains contrary to schedule time, and rules by orders in writing or by telegraph delivered to the engineer or conductor of the train so moved or held as provided in the foregoing special rule 4, except in case of great emergency, and that saving of time must never be regarded as such an emergency.

BAD BOOK AGENT.

How Robert Tangney Was Caught in the Toils.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 28.—Robert P. Tangney, a book canvasser in the employ of M. J. Downing & Co., Chicago, for several years, is a prisoner in the county jail on an indictment charging grand larceny and embezzlement. The arrest was made at Council Bluffs, and the complainant is his wife, Mrs. Ada Tangney, nee Mann, some years his senior. The couple met in Kansas City and again in St. Joseph in 1881, and in the fall of that year they were married in this city. Twenty-four hours later Tangney started for New York to lay in a stock of books, carrying with him $900 or $700 of her money. He arrived in New York, but instead of acting in good faith with Mrs. Tangney, he went upon a sea voyage, and, after visiting friends in Ireland, returned and resumed work for the Chicago firm, and it is not apparent that he has ever made any effort to right the wrong inflicted upon his wife. Notwithstanding her grievance the lady withstood her resentment until the time came to act, and, having located her husband, she caused his arrest.

AN UNNATURAL CHILD.

Kidnapping an Old Man in Broad Daylight in Philadelphia.

An Extraordinary Scene—Forcing an Aged and Apparently Refined and Sensible Gentleman to Make a Journey Against His Will—A Mysterious Case that Needs Investigation.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—Near the Bureau of Information at the Broad street station of the Pennsylvania Railroad, a special officer seized a refined looking old gentleman wearing glasses and having a gray beard. The old man appeared surprised and frightened and the spectators thought it was a friendly tussle until the elderly gentleman shrieked, as he clung to the railing:

"Good people, don't let him take me! He wants to take me to the asylum! I appeal to you! I have committed no crime!" The old gentleman exerted all his strength to free himself, but was carried into the smoking-car bound for New York and placed in a seat.

The officer then said: "Now be quiet, old man. You're all right." Standing up and addressing the car full of people, the old man said: "Gentlemen, let me state my case to you. I am an old man and this afternoon my son assaulted me on one of your streets. I own considerable property near Vineland, N. J., and my son had charge of it. He sold some of it without my consent. I asked him to render an account of the property, which he refused. Now he is having me put away. My only crime is that I am old. Is there not some lawyer here who will take my case in hand? Why don't some of you demand to see this officer's papers? He has none."

The officer said that he was taking his prisoner to Trenton, but further information he refused to give. The old gentleman again stood up and asked for a charitable lawyer to defend him to keep him from being thrown unjustly into an asylum.

"Here, in broad daylight, gentlemen, you allow an old man like me to be carried off before your eyes. An old man innocent of any crime except that of being old." While saying the last words his voice trembled. He then looked pleadingly to each of the faces of the passengers, who, utterly powerless to aid him, turned to each other and remarked: "That man is not crazy." At this juncture the train moved out of the depot, and the old man with a sigh, as if bereft of all hope, sank back into his seat.

The old man said as the train left the station: "They can't do anything with me in Pennsylvania, so they have to take me to Jersey." It has been impossible as yet to ascertain the name of the old man or the officer, but there seems to be little doubt it was a case of kidnapping that calls for investigation.

LEVY'S QUEER SUIT.

Interesting Developments Promised Regarding the Music Trade.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—Jules Levy, the pianist, began a queer suit. Sixteen years ago Levy had "the great pleasure," as he said in a letter at that time, "of using a silver cornet lent him by Henry Diston, the defendant." Levy also took occasion to say in that unfortunate letter that "the cornet was the finest he had ever blown." Naturally enough Mr. Diston published the letter among several others from delighted performers, each praising musical instruments of his make. Now, however, Levy appears to have changed his mind. He claims that since 1867, when his letter to Diston was written, he has had the pleasure of using a silver cornet lent by another manufacturer, who is alleged to appreciate complimentary letters better than Mr. Diston. Mr. Levy intimated to Diston that he desired his letter in praise of the Diston cornet used as an advertisement no longer. These hints were ignored, and Levy went into court with a bill in equity, setting forth the facts, and asking that Diston be enjoined from using the letter for the purposes of his business. Some very interesting facts regarding the music trade are promised.

SIMPLE SIMPSON.

The Question of His Sanity Before the War Department.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The Army Surgeon at Whipple Barracks, Arizona, has reported to the War Department that Lieut. John F. Simpson, Third Cavalry, is in the hospital at that post, and is considered to be insane. Lieut. Simpson is the officer who a short time ago was court-martialed for marrying his mistress, and was sentenced to be dismissed by the court, but the sentence was disapproved by the President. Lieut. Simpson has recently published a card defending the character of his wife and explaining his own actions, and stating that he had resigned from the army. His resignation has not been received at the War Department. His first wife had been dead a short time only when the second marriage, which was the cause of the court-martial, was contracted. If he is adjudged to be insane, the authorities will take steps at once to have him cared for.

HIGHWAY MURDER.

Brutal and Cowardly Deed in Minnesota.

WADENA, Minn., Oct. 28.—A man named Gould, of Stowe Prairie, Todd county, six miles south of this place, was found dead on the highway, having been brutally and cowardly murdered on his way home from a neighbor's. He was riding horseback through the woods, when some one shot him in the back with a shotgun loaded with buckshot, the entire charge striking his body, many of them passing through. Gould was one of the oldest settlers in this vicinity, and had many enemies, and was a terror in the neighborhood where he lived. No arrests have been made, nor is there likely to be, as Gould had but few friends in this locality. There are suspicions as to the party who committed the deed.

FOUND DEAD.

A Mystery Surrounding the Discovery of a Body on a Base Ball Ground.

WAUREGAN, Conn., Oct. 28.—The body of Mr. Patrick Dillon was found dead on the Wauregan base-ball grounds. Two boys who were going over the grounds came across him, and, supposing he was some drunken man asleep, they immediately left for home and informed their parents, who told them to get assistance and have him removed. When help arrived he was found to be dead. How long he had lain there is not known, but it is thought he had not been there long. He was lying on his back, his hands crossed upon his breast. His hat lay near by, considerably jammed, as if he had rested his head upon it. He had on a black coat, vest and overalls, and was barefooted. In his pockets was found about two dollars, a knife and a roller hook, he being a mule spinner. About three months ago he moved here, with his family, from East Greenwich, R. I., and about six weeks since he left his work here and went back there, his folks receiving word that he would be home about Christmas. Dr. Lewis, of Moosup, Deputy Juror of Plainfield, was summoned, and he postponed the inquest until to-day. The citizens here are puzzled because he wore no shoes or stockings as they can not understand why a man should walk barefooted with sufficient money in his pockets to buy them. His mother states that he had on a new suit of good clothes, but when found he had on overalls. He was a well educated man and generally smart, but his great fault was drink. He leaves a wife and several children, all of whom are nearly distracted with grief at his sad end.

PARDONED.

A Man Who Was Sentenced to Fifteen Years' Imprisonment on False Charges.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 28.—The Governor has pardoned Wm. Rabson, who was sentenced in Rensselaer county in 1877 to fifteen years' imprisonment for alleged rape. He was seventeen years old when sentenced. The complainant was nearly the same age, and resided with her mother, who kept a disreputable house in Albany. The two went out together for a ride one Sunday afternoon, and about 3 o'clock the next morning the girl returned home and complained that she had been outraged. Rabson was arrested and indicted. On the advice of his counsel, he pleaded guilty to a crime of which he all the time protested he was innocent. From affidavits and statements obtained, the Governor is convinced that the charges made against the prisoner were without foundation, and that the evidence produced in support of the charges was fabricated. The prosecuting attorney who presented the case to the Grand Jury expressed the same opinion, becoming convinced that the whole transaction was a blackmailing scheme. Judge Straut, who sentenced Rabson, came to the same decision.

SILVERING COPPERS.

An Interesting Process in a Court of Justice.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Van Rensselaer Abrams was put on trial in the United States Circuit Court before Judge Shipman on a charge of making counterfeit trade dollars. Detective Blackwell of the Secret Service testified that he had been shadowing the prisoner since 1878, and had seen him visit metal shops and make purchases. Metal dealers testified to selling the prisoner block tin and antimony. Detective Scanlon said that on October 25, last year, the day of the prisoner's arrest, he went to his residence and found there 250 counterfeit trade dollars in a partly finished state, also five sets of plaster Paris moulds for making the counterfeit coin, and a jar filled with a solution. The witness poured some of the solution into a glass in the court and dropped a copper penny into it. When he took the piece out it looked like silver.

HITTING KUKLUXERS.

Every One in the Georgia Cases Found Guilty.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 28.—In the Banks county kuklux cases the eight prisoners were all found guilty on every indictment, and will be sentenced to-day. Judge McCoy, in his charge, said: "It is strange that men should so far forget their manhood and so forget their God and the laws of their country as to permit themselves to do such things on a poor, helpless negro. It is a disgrace to humanity and society, and I say as a citizen of the United States and an observer, nothing has tended so much to bring this Southern country into disgrace, nothing has tended so much to put the balance of the United States against us as this kind of outrage. They are men, they are disgraceful, they are horrible. They are things which people out of this country can not comprehend or understand."

COULDN'T AGREE.

Result of the Second Trial in a Murder Case.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Oct. 28.—The second trial in the case of A. Farkas, who is accused of having knocked his wife's skull in and then burned the house containing her corpse, resulted in a hung jury. At the last trial the jury found him guilty after three minutes' deliberation and sentenced him to hang. On appeal a new trial was granted. He is an old resident and has considerable property here, the case excites considerable local interest here. It is now thought that he will escape punishment. He had $5,000 of insurance on his wife's life. It will be remembered that he was found tied to a tree by the firemen and had made no noise about the fire.

Van Molthe's Habits.

BERLIN, Oct. 28.—Count von Molthe is staying on his estate at Kreisau in Silesia. His life is very simple. He receives friends in the morning, plays whist in the afternoon and works in the evening, criticizing the papers submitted to him by the heads of departments and writing on the margin notes remarkable for the beauty of style and precision of thought.

The above number represents the circulation, each week of the DAILY and WEEKLY BULLETIN. Advertisers are invited to call and assure themselves of the truth of the statement, and they are requested to bear in mind that our rates for advertising are the lowest.

It is stated on good authority that the spring schedule of the Kentucky Central railroad, will embrace increased facilities for the accommodation of travel between Maysville and Cincinnati. A parlor car, no change at the Paris junction, and arrivals and departures always "on time" would add greatly to the amount of travel between this point and Cincinnati by rail.

SUPPOSE the right to maintain other kinds of nuisances were submitted to the popular vote what would be the condition of the city in a short time? Shall ashes be thrown in great piles on the public thoroughfares? Shall other accumulations of filth and filth remain? Shall bawdy houses be kept on every street? Shall liquor shops be allowed at any and every place? Would it not be quite as proper to take the sense of the voters upon these and similar propositions, to relieve city councilmen from their obvious duty, as to submit the question of keeping and breeding hogs to the voters of the owners and breeders of hogs in Maysville?—BULLETIN.

Impliedly these queries are an affirmation on the part of the BULLETIN that a majority of our citizens would vote to multiply the evils to which it refers. This we do not believe and unhesitatingly deny. Maysville is basely slandered in all portions of the country as being one of the most immoral cities of the land. A paper published in our midst giving vent to such sentiments as the above, lends color to the charge.—Republican.

If the citizens showed the same fear of gamblers, keepers of bawdy houses, liquor dealers etc., that they do of the nog owners of the city, all the propositions mentioned, if submitted to the popular vote, would carry like a flash. The truth is that about one hundred and fifty hog breeders are bull-dozing the town, and through fear of them the city is turned into a stinking, disease-breeding hole.

While all other meals may be treated with a certain lot of liberty, says a well-known writer, dinner, even en famille, should be a somewhat formal and regulated meal, and served with precision.

A writer in the Boston Budget says: "All hostesses are obliged to consult their neighbors and the resources of the season in giving dinner parties, but a little attention to the proper garnishing of plain dishes, the study of salads and of entrees, which can be easily learned, will soon make a woman independent of her surroundings. A good cook can get up a dinner in the desert of Sahara."

Political Notes.

New York Herald.

A Governor of Ohio has not a great power.

Gen. Weaver, of Iowa, may now take a nap.

Mr. S. S. Cox several years ago favored prohibition.

New England Republicans favor Edmunds for President.

Two-thirds of the Democrats of Massachusetts are said to be Irish.

Governor Foster, of Ohio, can sell hooks and eyes, but he can't make them "any."

The prohibitionists of Iowa will throw cold water on the Democrats.

Young Mr. Foraker, of Ohio, was the candidate of many speeches. Mr. Leon Abbott, of New Jersey, should take warning.

Gen. Butler says to the Republicans who abuse him: "Keep it going, gentlemen. You will carry me to a very high office by and by."

Cape Cod fishermen say that they were promised a good run of mackerel if they would vote for Butler, but that when he was elected the mackerel left.

COUNTY POINTS.

SARDIS.

Mr. L. R. Wheeler, of Missouri, is visiting relatives in this place.

Elder M. W. Harkins, of Carlisle, Ky., will preach in the Christian Church at this place on Monday night the 30th inst. Mr. Harkins ranks very high as an eloquent speaker. All are cordially invited.

J. H. Grishy has beautified his residence recently by the artistic brush of L. A. Branton and Strober.

Emory Grover, who has been confined to his bed for some time, we are glad to state, is improving.

A few days ago, Master Willie Applegate, was trusted to drive a spirited horse out the road. Soon the horse was making greater speed than was anticipated, and in making the turn "kicked" and threw out, one wheel passing over him, but very fortunately he was not injured in the least. "Kittie" is a favorite of all whom him.

[From another correspondent.]

Tuesday, October 30th, the Sweeney-Hanford debate opens. This philosophical tournament, so many weeks in contemplation, is now all the talk in town and country, and everybody is getting ready for the fray. The foundation of this discussion will be laid upon a Greek rock, and many Greek and Latin words will be introduced. After the laying of the corner stone, the superstructure of the wall aboveground will be more intelligible, and consequently the labors of the disputants will be more agreeable and more interesting to all. If all apt scholars, our villagers will soon be able to decide in Latin, to take their meals in Greek, to drink in Hebrew, even if they are prohibitionists, to sing in Ethiopic, and to dream in Syriac in their afternoon naps. Let no one undervalue the points at issue in the present controversy. Let no one regard anything in religion or morals as excessively minute, or unworthy of the highest conscientious regard. There is something more in a monosyllable than in a lolo. A yes, or a No has slain millions, while a thousand volumes have been written and read, without any visible disaster to any human being. It is understood that this is to be a full, frank, candid and amiable discussion of the great points of difference between the disciples and the Methodists; that each party is to affirm and maintain what it teaches, and thus give to their respective communities authentic views of their peculiar tenets so far as they may materially conflict with each other. Every question discussed will be of vital importance to salut and sinners, and will pass the fiery ordeal of intense genius and vigorous analysis, giving a clear and correct view of the elect debaters in the impending controversy will be given in my next, if the necessary data can be obtained.

DID HE HAVE 'EM?

Either He Did or Else He Saw the Sea Serpent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—A dispatch from Panama received here, has been published in the newspapers to the effect that the sea serpent had changed his apparel and made a public appearance off St. Elmo, one of the Pearl Islands. Captain Seymour, of the bark Hope On, is the man to whom it appeared this time, and with the aid of a nimble pencil he jotted down the erratic beast's characteristics. On this occasion it was twenty feet long and had on a handsome horse-like head and two uniform shaped horns protruding from it, with four legs or double jointed fins, a brownish hide, profusely speckled with large black spots, and a tail which appeared to be divided into two parts.

ROSSER & MCCARTHY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
To whom address all communications.

As noting Maysville enterprise,
We have to tell the tale,
That Thomas owns a market house
And Phister, owns a jail.
And not to be outdone by them,
If bargain can be made,
Old Huntington is skinning 'round
To buy the upper grade.

This latest matter of interest at Aberdeen is the opening of the Baptist Opera House.

It is rumored that Mr. Charles H. White will succeed Messrs. Sulser, Petry & Co., in the cigar manufacturing business.

Don't forget there will be a matinee by Draper's Uncle Tom's Cabin Troupe, at Washington Opera House this afternoon at two o'clock.

Mrs. DUFU, an aged lady, fell at the corner of Second and Short streets, on Saturday afternoon, and received a severe cut on the forehead.

REVENUE tax payers are notified that no stamps will be sold at the office in this city from 10 o'clock a. m., October 30th until November 1st.

In the case of Shackleford vs. Finch & Co., in the Circuit Court, the defendants Saturday morning, filed their motion and grounds for a new trial.

MR. FRED OTTO has on exhibition at his saloon, a pheasant that was caught on Front street a day or two ago. It is a fine specimen of this beautiful bird.

ON the 26th inst., the Masonic Mutual Benefit Association paid the following death claims: P. B. Vanden, $1,603; Abner C. Hunter, $1,602; W. R. Potts, $1,603.

We respectfully suggest to the city council that it be submitted to the popular vote whether the name of Second street shall be changed to "Boar's Walk." All citizens who believe in appropriate appellations will vote for the proposition.

Though numerous cases may operate to turn the hair gray, all that is needed to restore the natural color is Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer. For more than twenty years its sales have been enormous, but we have yet to hear of its first failure.

In response to an inquiry regarding matches, we have been informed that R. B. Lovel is selling for five cents a box that contains five hundred good matches. This is two and a half times as many as were formerly sold for that price, and one hundred more than were formerly sold for ten cents. This is all the public can expect.

THE "German" Friday night at the Riverside Hotel, was a most charming entertainment, and the young people are to be congratulated on the success of their first meeting. The "German" has never been danced much in Maysville, and the beauty of the dance is all the more appreciated on account of its novelty. Another meeting will be held in a few weeks, of which due notice will be given.

The old reliable steamer W. P. Thompson, will enter the Vanceburg and Cincinnati trade on the 31st inst., and will run on her old time, leaving Cincinnati Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week at 4:30 a. m., and returning leave Vanceburg on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Sundays at noon, except on Sunday, when the time of departure will be 5 p. m. Captain Bruce Redden will be in command, and Mr. Moss Taylor in the office.

The old jail property, which includes the residence, jail building, cells, etc., was offered at public sale on Saturday, and bought by Dr. John P. Phister for $3,010. The Doctor purchased it with the view of offering it to the city to be used as a station house, but if the city does not desire to own it, it will probably be for sale again. The property was bought low, and the buyer has since been offered for it a considerable advance on the price bid.

Political Corruptions.

Ed. Bulletin: With your permission I desire to present a few thoughts on the present condition of politics. Allow me to preface my article by saying that I write, not for the professed politician, but for the professed christian, and to all such let me say that I want to "stir up your pure minds by way of remembrance."

Politics has been defined to be "the science of Government," but such are the corruptions associated with that science to-day that a lexicographer of the present would hardly be warranted in giving the word that definition. He might more appropriately say politics has come to mean "the science destructive of all government." To every man in whose breast there is love of country, of humanity, and of God, or in other words, to every patriot and to every christian, the extent and enormity of political corruptions are truly alarming. Honesty in politics is a principle that has been very largely relegated to the days of the past. As a rule candidates for office are not chosen on account of special fitness morally and intellectually, and because of their sympathy with the highest interests of the people, but because of their party affiliations. The vilest demagogues succeed by satanic machinations in obtaining the nomination of the party and their honorable men are called upon to support them for the reason that they are "our nominees." I disclaim the whole thing. They are not our nominees. They are the nominees of bribery and cliques. They do not represent the honorable men of the party. They are a disgrace to any party, and instead of claiming honors and preferments of the party, they ought to ask the party's forgiveness for the stigma and shame which their lives have cast upon it, and be satisfied simply with the forbearance which the party has exercised towards them in suffering them to remain in its ranks at all.

Political caucuses and conventions are to such a great extent ruled by unprincipled and designing men that an honest man feels that he has been defiled by having been connected with them. And it is an abiding shame to our people that knave-like demagogues are permitted, in a very large measure, to control our elections. Honorable men will not condescend to the littleness and meanness which are so common among politicians of the present day. Men are elected to office by fraud. Officers so elected can be bribed by the merest considerations of party or personal interest, or with money, not to enforce the laws. The natural result is, as we might expect, that a large percentage of the laws on our statute books are dead letters, and had as well never have been enacted. Occasionally a voice sounds out clear and strong against the non-enforcement of our laws, and let us hope that this is the premonition of a mighty upheaval of a sound public sentiment that will demand and secure a much-needed reform along this line. Our State and National Legislatures are more or less dens of iniquity. The writer has a painful personal knowledge of the truth of this last statement in reference to his own State. Two or three years since he spent a few days in the State capital, and whilst there was reliably informed that it was a common thing for both houses of the Legislature to give intermissions during their daily sittings for the purpose of giving our representatives an opportunity of being served with wines and liquors. This one fact is sufficient evidence of the corruption of our State politics.

I am no croaking pessimist, who sees only the dark side of things, and who thinks everything is going to ruin, but it is useless to disguise the truth, or turn aside from the facts in the case. These are patent to all, and if we are wise men we will address ourselves to the remedy of the evil. What is that evil? It is for every citizen to conscientiously do his duty. Let every man of honor, and especially every avowed christian, give political tricksters to understand that they can no longer command his vote for unworthy, immoral and inefficient men.

Let the party leaders be made to understand that they must give us the very best men as candidates for office, or else the nominees will not be supported, regardless of consequences to our party whatever may be its name. Let every man positively refuse to vote for men whose only claim to their support is their unswerving adherence to the party of the past. Let demagogues be taught that the party lash has lost its sting, and that its sharp crack will be no longer heeded by sensible men. Let every officer of the law, who fearlessly does his duty, receive the full sympathy of and support of all law-abiding people. Let all lawlessness be discontinued and every means used for its suppression. Let our grand jurymen magnify their office by making rigid efforts to apprehend violators of the law, and let the courts see to it that the severest penalties are inflicted upon all such. Let every minister of the gospel denounce these evils and all others which threaten to destroy our national existence and sap the very foundation principles of society, in unmistakable terms.

The pulpist must not give forth an uncertain sound in reference to these things. I conceive that a practical reformation of these evils is only to be secured along the line indicated. Of course in the limits of a news paper article I can only be suggestive and must leave the reader to develop the thoughts for himself. I have written, not in the spirit of controversy or of personal animosity, but from a deep conviction of the heinousness of existing political corruptions, and from a sense of duty. If any one is aroused from his lethargy by the reading of this article and induced to wage an unceasing warfare against "wickedness in high places," in politics, everywhere, I will be satisfied. Very truly,
F. S. POLLITT.

Maysville, Ky., Oct. 27, 1883.

The bridge of his nose was broken and he received bruises on other parts of his body. A PICTURESQUE POLE.

With a Beautiful Title, Only Too Much Married.

A Connecticut Heiress Would Say Herself a Foreign Nobleman For a Lap Dog, and the Very Bad Bargain She Made—A Romance of Two Worlds Built on the Old, Old Story.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 23.—William Wallace is one of the wealthiest men in the Naugatuck Valley, and the proprietor of a large manufacturing establishment in Ansonia. He has but one child, a daughter, who has received a careful and liberal education. In 1880 she went to Europe, and there met a Polish Count named Osterog. He could speak only French, and she only English. He was engaged in the photograph business. They were attracted by one another, and each set about learning the language of the other. Miss Wallace returned home in the spring of 1881 to obtain the consent of her parents to her marriage with the Count. He was sent for and came by the next steamer. The parents and friends of the girl were not particularly pleased with his personal appearance, but the wedding came off, and for a time the couple lived at the bride's home, moved in the best society in Connecticut, and visited the family relatives of the Wallaces. At length the Count and Countess returned to Europe, and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace went thither themselves last winter to spend the season with them. They stayed in Paris, and the young American Countess was the center of a fashionable circle. Suddenly the father, mother and daughter came homeward bound, leaving the Count behind. Satisfactory excuses were given in Ansonia for his non-appearance and no suspicions were aroused. Gradually, however, it became known in the family circle of the Wallaces that there was some trouble, and that news from across the water was not in every way satisfactory. Now the rumors have escaped beyond the family circle and have become the town talk. Careful search, it is asserted, has brought out the fact that the Count is already the possessor of two wives in France. An attempt on the part of the Wallaces to get a divorce revealed the facts. The proceedings for a divorce are now being rapidly pushed. The family regret that the facts have become public, but they say they expected that such must be the case if justice was to be obtained.

SELF-SLAIN.

A Young Virginian Commit's Suicide on His Wedding Day.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 23.—C. E. Kuhn, painter and paper-hanger, a native of Virginia, came to Atlanta fifteen months ago. He was a young man of good address. Three weeks ago he left Atlanta for Front Royal, Va., for the purpose of marrying and intended to return to Atlanta with his bride. To his employer he made known the object of his visit to Virginia, and was presented with a handsome testimonial. This week Mr. Kuhn received a letter from Kuhn, in which he gave the day of his intended arrival in Atlanta. With the letter came an invitation to the wedding of Charles E. Kuhn to Miss M. E. Pritchard. On the day designated Kuhn's friends repaired to the depot to meet him. He did not come. A telegram from Kuhn set forth that Kuhn was to have been married at 8 o'clock Thursday morning. As he did not appear at the breakfast table his friends, who were to have been his attendants, went to his room in the Central Hotel to awake him, in order that he might prepare for the ceremony. Repeated knocks on the door failed to elicit response. An entrance was forcibly effected. There, on the bed, that upon his back, with eyes and mouth wide open, lay the intended groom dead. A bloody gash across the throat and pen and razor in his right hand told the story plainer than words. An inquest was held, but no cause for suicide could be obtained. Miss Pritchard was so shocked by the sudden death of Kuhn that her mind is greatly impaired. It is thought Kuhn was suffering from financial troubles.

The Glass Blowers' Strike.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 23.—A gentleman connected with the glass works of D. O. Cunningham & Co., was interviewed in regard to the published statement that a meeting of the green glass manufacturers was to be held in Chicago, said: "There is no such meeting called, and Mr. Cunningham did not start for that purpose. Moreover, there are no indications of the manufacturers giving in to the men. Even at the proposed reduction, the glass blowers can make $4.50 per day, and that is good wages. The men must accept the situation and that is all there is about it."

Bob. Ingersoll and Civil Rights.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—In response to a call signed by Fred. Douglass, R. K. Bruce and other leading colored men, Colonel Ingersoll will repeat his speech on the Civil Rights Act, next Friday. In the language of the call, "It will require such burning words as fell from your lips to arouse the moral sense of the Nation to the enormity of this practice of treating colored people in hotels and on the public highways of the country."

Cotton in Arkansas.

HELENA, Oct. 23.—Reports continue to come in stating that as picking progresses the outcome of cotton is much better than was hoped for a month ago. Rain and general bad weather for two or three days have somewhat interfered with gathering the crop. A heavy frost, which is nightly expected, will cause all matured bolls to open, and a short piece of good weather will see the entire yield safe in gin houses and on its way to market. Receipts at this point are liberal, and good prices, fully up to Memphis and St. Louis, are paid.

Fatal Mine Explosion.

LINCOLN, Ill., Oct. 23.—An accident in the Citizen's Coal Mining Company's shaft resulted in the serious injury of Peter Standacker, George Werth and George Soltice. The explosion of a blast fired a keg of powder in the apartment where the three men stood. Their clothing was ignited and the flesh burned from off their faces. It is thought they may recover. Sixty other men in the mine were badly shaken up.
